UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 | JANUARY, 1931 | Number 1

Contents of the January Bulletin.

This number of the bulletin contains the usual table of offenses known to the police for the month of January as reflected by the returns received by the Bureau of Investigation from contributing police departments throughout the country. Returns for the above month are also shown for several counties in various States, three of the four divisions of Alaska, and Porto Rico, while those received from State Police of a few of the States are also included. These miscellaneous returns, exclusive of figures submitted by police departments, are included in a separate table. In addition to the returns submitted for the month of January, the bulletin also contains a table showing the number of offenses known for various police departments for previous months, including returns from Alaska and the Philippines. These supplementary returns were received subsequent to the last issue of the bulletin.

"Offenses known to the police" include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification, occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny-theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over, and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

The bulletin also contains tables indicating the extent of the reporting area by States for 1930, for January of 1931, and the area represented thereby. Tables are also included which show the average daily number of offenses of the designated classes for December and January, based on the figures received.

1,049 Cities Reported Currently in January.

During the present month 1,049 returns have been received from police departments for the month of January. These returns represent an aggregate population of 45,027,860. A considerable number of supplementary returns for various months of 1930 were also submitted, so that the number of cities which have at any time contributed figures on offenses known to the police reached 1,160, representing a population of approximately 46,564,425.

In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants, from which returns were received for the month of January, 1931. The classification is based on the population data in the summary recently issued by the Bureau of the Census. In addition to the number of cities listed in the table there were 404 cities of a population less than 10,000 of an approximate population of 2,154,246, which also contributed in January. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	645	66	58,340,077	42,873,614	73
A. Cities over 250,000	37	33	89	28,784,770	20,660,998	72
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	50	89	7,540,966	6,714,009	89
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	81	83	6,491,448	5,317,617	82
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	131	71	6,425,693	4,697,464	73
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	350	58	9,097,200	5,483,526	60

The above table does not include 404 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 2,154,246 from which returns were received for January, 1931.

Increase in Reporting Area Maintained in January.

The number of cities contributing crime statistics has shown a steady increase each month since the project was inaugurated, and this gradual expansion was maintained in January when returns were received from 33 additional cities which had not contributed previously.

The number of returns by States, received and published for the month of January, is shown in the following table:

Supplementary Table for 1930.

The total number of returns, including current and supplementary received and published for the year of 1930 is shown by States in the table which follows. These supplementary returns were furnished by cities which commenced contributing crime statistics subsequent to the first issue of the bulletin, and in that manner the reporting area established was maintained to a considerable degree.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily averages of the number of offenses known of the designated classes as reflected in the following table are based upon the figures submitted by all those cities which contributed both in December and January, exclusive of incomplete and patently defective returns.

Daily average miscellaneous cities contributing December, 1930, and January, 1931

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—Breaking or entering	Larceny—Theft		Auto theft
		Murder, nonnegligent manslaughter	Manslaughter by negligence					$50 and over	Under $50
December, 1930	1,823.9	8.3	7.6	5.1	143.7	60.4	372.8	156.5	632.6	436.9
January, 1931	1,710.9	7.9	4.8	6.4	116.0	48.6	363.0	138.6	596.5	429.1

The next table of daily averages is based upon figures submitted by 75 cities each of a population of 100,000 or more, which contributed returns both in December and January. Incomplete and defective returns are excluded.

Daily average 75 cities 100,000 population and over

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—Breaking or entering	Larceny—Theft		Auto theft

New Forms Distributed.

Officials contributing crime statistics will note the new type of Return A forms distributed with this issue of the bulletin. There is no material change in the general outline of the forms, but it will be observed that they are salmon colored whereas those heretofore used were white.

The brief instructions contained on the reverse side of these forms should be of considerable assistance to new contributors and it is recommended that they be referred to before inscribing the figures thereon.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 FEBRUARY, 1931 Number 2

Contents of the February Bulletin.

This issue of the bulletin consists of the usual tabulation of offenses known to the police for the month of February as indicated by the returns submitted to the Bureau of Investigation by the various contributing police departments throughout the country. Returns for a number of counties in the various States have been received, as well as for three of the four divisions of Alaska, the Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. The figures submitted by these miscellaneous jurisdictions are included in a separate table exclusive of the figures submitted by urban police departments in the United States. In addition to the above the bulletin also contains a table showing the number of offenses known as reported by the various police departments in the country for the months previous to February, 1931. These supplementary returns, including a number of reports for months of 1930, were received by the Bureau of Investigation subsequent to the last issue of the bulletin.

"Offenses known to the police" include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification, occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny-theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

The bulletin also contains tables indicating the extent of the reporting area by States for 1931. Tables are also included which show the average daily number of offenses of the designated classes for January and February of the current year, as reflected by the figures received.

Extent of Population Area for 1931.

The total number of cities, exclusive of county returns and others, which have submitted the monthly returns on offenses known to the police, either in January or February of 1931, is 1,161, representing an aggregate population of 46,563,548. More than 90 per cent of these cities contributed returns for both months.

The following table shows the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for 1931. The classification is based on the population data in the summary issued by the Bureau of the Census. In addition to the number of cities listed in the table there were 487 cities of a population less than 10,000, of an approximate population of 2,639,336, which have also contributed returns during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	674	68	58,340,077	43,924,212	75
A. Cities over 250,000	37	33	89	28,784,770	20,660,998	72
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7,540,966	7,169,091	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	81	83	6,491,448	5,317,617	82
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	142	76	6,425,693	5,066,793	78
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	365	60	9,097,200	5,709,713	62

The above table does not include 487 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 2,639,336 from which returns were received for 1931.

67 New Contributors for February.

During the current month returns were received from 67 cities which had not contributed crime statistics at any time previous to the publication of this issue of the bulletin. For the month of February figures were received from 1,077 cities. This number represents an increase of 28 over the total number of current returns received in January.

The number of returns, by States, received and published for the months of January and February, 1931, are shown in the following table:

Supplementary Returns Received for January, 1931.

In the following table is shown the total number of returns received for the month of January, 1931, including supplementaries. Supplementary, as distinguished from current returns, are those which have been received for previous months since the last issue of the bulletin. In addition to those submitted for January, 1931, a considerable number were also received for 1930. Although these latter returns for 1930 are published in this issue of the bulletin, they are not represented in this table.

Cities which have failed to contribute the figures on offenses known for January or February, 1931, are urged to do so.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily averages of the number of offenses known of the designated classes as reflected in the following table are based upon the figures submitted by 995 cities which contributed both in January and February, exclusive of incomplete and patently defective returns.

Due allowance was made for the variance in the number of days in each of the above months.

Daily average 995 miscellaneous cities

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—Breaking or entering	Larceny—Theft		Auto theft

Instructions for Reporting Auto Thefts.

The attention of contributors is invited to the fact that the term auto theft as used in the Uniform Classification of Offenses includes all cases where a motor vehicle is stolen, or driven away and abandoned, or such a taking is attempted. It does not include the taking of a vehicle without the owner's consent by any one having lawful access thereto for temporary use, when the car or vehicle is actually returned to the owner or the place from which it was taken. There should be excluded from this group, therefore, all those cases where a vehicle is taken by chauffeurs, garage employees, and individuals in a similar status who had no intention of stealing the vehicle. There should be included, however, in the monthly return, all cases where vehicles are taken and later abandoned by persons not lawfully entitled thereto. It is suggested that officials refer to the schedules for the various States which will be found on pages 217 to 456, inclusive of the manual, Uniform Crime Reporting, should any question arise as to whether a particular offense of this class should be included in the monthly report.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

Volume 2 March, 1931 Number 3

Contents of the March Bulletin.

The Bulletin for March contains a tabulation showing the number of offenses known to the police as reported to the Bureau of Investigation by contributing police departments of the country for that month.

The above tabulation is designated Table I and is limited to those figures which are received from police departments in cities, towns, and villages, as distinguished from the returns submitted by county sheriffs, State police, and officers in a similar status. These latter figures represent the returns received from county and other jurisdictions, including the possessions, and are published in Table I–A.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification, occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over, and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

A table is also shown indicating the extent of the population area represented by contributing cities, exclusive of county and other returns. In addition the number of current and supplementary returns received by States during the current year are published separately, while the average daily number of offenses, and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported, as reflected by the figures received, are also shown.

Considerable Expansion Noted in March.

During the current year 1,227 cities have furnished the Bureau of Investigation with monthly returns on offenses known to the police. Approximately 1,000 cities have contributed the figures for each of the three months of 1931, but the figure 1,227 represents the number of departments from which returns were received for any one month. The population represented by these cities is estimated to be 47,135,301.

For the month of March 1,140 cities contributed returns reflecting the number of offenses known of the designated classes which were reported to the police departments of those cities. Current returns were also received from a number of counties in various States, State police, the first and third Divisions of Alaska, the Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. In addition to the above, figures were received for previous months of 1930 and 1931 from Baguio and Manila in the Philippines, and from two counties in Honolulu.

In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 543 cities of an aggregate population of 2,985,403 which also have contributed returns during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	684	70	58,340,077	44,149,898	75
A. Cities over 250,000	37	33	89	28,784,770	20,660,998	72
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7,540,966	7,169,091	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	82	83	6,491,448	5,388,427	83
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	144	77	6,425,693	5,118,734	79
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	372	61	9,097,200	5,812,648	64

The above table does not include 543 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 2,985,403 rom which returns were received for 1931.

Number of Contributing Cities Increases Substantially.

Returns for the month of March were received from 1,140 cities which represents an increase of 64 over the number of current returns published in the February bulletin. Among this number contributing for March were 45 cities from which returns of offenses known to the police had not been received previously. It is interesting to note that for the month of March, 1930, returns were published for 541 cities. The increase over that number for March, 1931, is 599.

In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

New Contributors Urged to Submit Supplementaries.

Cities which began contributing returns on crime statistics to the Bureau of Investigation in March are requested to furnish the figures for January and February, if possible. Likewise, the cities which have omitted any one of the three months of the current year are urged to furnish the figures if they are available. In this manner the reporting area established may be maintained.

In the table which follows the total number of returns received and published, including supplementaries for the current year, are shown. Supplementary returns are those which have been received for previous months since the last issue of the bulletin.

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The monthly per cent of each offense class to the whole for the last six months of 1930, and for the first quarter of 1931, is shown in the following table. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of defective and incomplete returns.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily averages of the number of offenses known of the designated classes, as reflected in the following table, are based upon the figures submitted by 1,075 cities which contributed both in February and March, exclusive of incomplete and patently defective returns. Due allowance was made for the variance in the number of days in each of the foregoing months.

Daily average 1,075 miscellaneous cities

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—Breaking or entering	Larceny—theft		Auto theft
		Murder, nonnegligent manslaughter	Manslaughter by negligence					$50 and over	Under $50
February, 1931	1,735.9	7.1	6.7	6.6	116.5	55.6	380.0	137.4	608.7	417.3
March, 1931	1,617.1	8.3	5.9	6.3	89.4	54.7	349.1	127.5	584.6	391.3

The next table of daily averages is based upon figures submitted by 77 cities each of a population of 100,000 or more, which contributed returns both in February and March. Incomplete and defective returns are excluded.

Daily average 77 cities 100,000 population and over

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—Breaking or entering	Larceny—theft		Auto theft

Monthly Figures Based on Offenses Known.

The attention of contributing officials is invited to the fact that the figures compiled, according to the Uniform Classification of Offenses are based upon the number of offenses reported to the respective police officers as distinguished from the number of arrests made. For example, if a report is received that a robbery has occurred and two individuals are taken into custody and charged with the crime, only one offense is recorded. Similarly, if a police department receives complaints to the effect that two offenses of robbery have been committed and one person is taken into custody and charged with the crimes, two cases of robbery should be recorded in the monthly return.

The above comment should not be construed to mean, however, that only those offenses wherein arrests are made should be recorded. If a report is received to the effect that any one of the crimes listed on the monthly Return A has been committed, it should be recorded if investigation proves that the report was not unfounded. In other words, it is immaterial whether an arrest has been made when a report has been received to the effect that one of the offenses of the designated classes has been committed. In each instance a record thereof should be made on the monthly return.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 April, 1931 Number 4

Contents of the April Bulletin.

This issue of the bulletin contains the usual table showing the number of offenses known to the police as reported to the Bureau of Investigation by contributing police departments for the month of April.

The above tabulation is designated Table I and contains only those figures which are contributed by police departments of cities, towns, and villages, as distinguished from the returns submitted by county sheriffs, State police, United States marshals in the possessions, and officers in a similar status. These latter figures represent the returns received from county and other jurisdictions, including the possessions, and are published in Table I–A.

In addition to the above, tabulations are included showing the supplementary returns received since the last issue of the bulletin. The supplementary table is designated Table II. Table II–A of the bulletin contains figures which have been previously published but are corrected or revised in this edition.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes excepting attempted murders classed as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

Tables are also included to show the extent of the population area represented by contributing cities, exclusive of county and other returns. In addition, the number of current and supplementary returns received, by States, for 1931 are published separately, while the average daily number of offenses and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported, as reflected by the figures received, are also shown.

Increase in New Contributors Continues.

The number of cities which have at any time during the year 1931 contributed returns on offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,272 in April. The population represented by those cities is estimated to be 48,440,282. This, of course, is exclusive of returns received from county and other jurisdictions.

Police departments in 1,211 cities throughout the country forwarded to the Bureau of Investigation returns indicating the number of offenses of the designated classes reported to those police departments for the month of April. Returns for that month were also received from a number of counties in various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the First and Third Divisions of Alaska, Hawaii, and Porto Rico.

In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 565 cities of an aggregate population of 3,122,732 which also have contributed returns during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	707	72	58,340,077	45,317,550	77
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7,540,966	7,169,837	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	86	88	6,491,448	5,635,277	87
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	149	80	6,425,693	5,223,202	81
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	385	63	9,097,200	5,958,419	65

The above tables does not include 565 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 3,122,732 from which returns were received for 1931.

Number of Regular Contributors Shows Notable Increase.

During the month of April returns were received from 1,211 cities which contributed the figures for that month. This number represents a very substantial increase over the number received for the previous month, when 1,140 cities contributed current returns. Thus it will be noted that the reporting area has increased with the gradual expansion which has marked the development of the national system of obtaining figures on offenses known or reported to the police based on the Uniform Classification of Offenses.

In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

Supplementary Returns Requested.

Cities which have not contributed the returns for each month of the current year are requested to do so, so that figures on the number of offenses known will be available for the entire period. Supplementary returns, as distinguished from current, are those which have been received for previous months since the last issue of the bulletin.

In the table which follows the total number of returns received and published, including supplementaries for the current year, are shown.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily averages of the number of offenses known of the designated classes, as reflected in the following table, are based upon the figures submitted by 1,136 cities which contributed both in March and April, exclusive of incomplete and patently defective returns. Due allowance was made for the variance in the number of days in each of the foregoing months.

Daily average, 1,136 miscellaneous cities

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—breaking or entering	Larceny—theft		Auto theft
		Murder, nonnegligent manslaughter	Manslaughter by negligence					$50 and over	Under $50
March, 1931	1,595.8	8.4	6.3	6.0	91.4	55.8	337.0	122.1	588.2	380.6
April, 1931	1,581.6	6.9	7.3	6.4	85.5	58.2	328.1	112.3	581.0	395.9

The next table of daily averages is based upon figures submitted by 75 cities each of a population of 100,000 or more which contributed returns both in March and April. Incomplete and defective returns are excluded.

Daily average, 75 cities, 100,000 population and over

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—breaking or entering	Larceny—theft		Auto theft
		Murder nonnegligent manslaughter	Manslaughter by negligence					$50 and over	Under $50
March, 1931	998.4	5.0	4.9	3.1	61.2	27.9	210.0	72.8	354.7	258.8

Murder and Nonnegligent Manslaughter.

Contributors are reminded that under the above heading all unlawful killings which are not the result of negligence should be recorded in the monthly return. The term "nonnegligent manslaughter" should not be interpreted to mean manslaughter which is caused by accidental though nonnegligent means, as the group includes only unlawful killings for which the offenders are liable to prosecution. There should be excluded from this classification in the monthly return all homicides which are attributable to negligence or accidental causes. It will be seen, therefore, that the classification murder and nonnegligent manslaughter is limited to offenses of murder and manslaughter not caused by negligence.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 May, 1931 Number 5

Contents of the May Bulletin.

The bulletin for May contains a table reflecting the number of offenses known to the police as reported to the Bureau of Investigation by contributing police departments for that month. The figures in the above-mentioned table are confined to those received from police departments of cities and towns, as distinguished from the returns submitted by county sheriffs, State police, United States marshals in the possessions, and officers in a similar status. The reports from counties and other jurisdictions are contained in a separate table.

In addition to the above, returns for previous months received since the last issue of the bulletin are also published. Corrections and adjustments in returns published in earlier issues of the bulletin, will be found in Table II–A.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities and not merely arrests or cleared cases. It should be noted, however, that all cities of the country are not represented, as will be observed from the population table and from the tables showing the number of current and supplementary returns received by States during 1931. Furthermore, wide divergencies in the total number of particular crimes for various cities of approximately the same population may in some cases not be indicative of a variance in the amount of crime in those cities but may be charged to inadequate record systems, or a lack of understanding of the classification on the part of some officials. In such instances caution should be exercised, therefore, in arriving at any conclusions or deductions from the figures presented.

The bulletin also contains tables showing the extent of the population area represented by contributing cities, exclusive of county and other returns. The number of current and supplementary returns received, by States, for 1931, are also shown, and tables indicating the average daily number of offenses and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported are included.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year of 1931 have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,304 in April. The population represented by these cities is 48,771,574. This, of course, is exclusive of returns received from county and other jurisdictions. Police departments in 1,197 cities contributed returns of offenses known to the police for the month of May. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the third division of Alaska, Hawaii, Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were forwarded from various other possessions. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 590 cities of an aggregate population of 3,282,357 which also contributed returns at some time during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	714	73	58,340,077	45,489,217	78
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7,540,966	7,169,837	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	87	89	6,491,448	5,717,331	88
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	149	80	6,425,693	5,223,202	81
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	391	64	9,097,200	6,048,032	66

The above table does not include 590 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 3,282,357 from which returns were received for 1931.

Returns Received from 1,197 Cities in May.

Police departments in 1,197 cities throughout the country forwarded to the Bureau of Investigation returns of offenses known to the police for May, 1931. This represents an increase of 541 over the number of current returns received for May, 1930. In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Per cent of offenses known, 1931

Manslaughter by Negligence.

Under the classification manslaughter by negligence should be reported all unlawful killings, other than murder, which result from culpable negligence. The most common offenses in this group are manslaughters by vehicles. There may be instances, however, resulting in accidental death which should not be recorded as offenses of manslaughter by negligence. This group should include only those cases in which the circumstances are such that culpable negligence is so clearly evident that if the person responsible for the death were to be apprehended a charge of manslaughter would be filed against him. If, however, no criminal charges could be placed against the party responsible an offense of manslaughter by negligence should not be entered on the monthly report.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 June, 1931 Number 6

Contents of the June Bulletin.

The June bulletin contains the usual tabulation of offenses known to the police in urban communities, based on the returns submitted to the Bureau of Investigation for that month. These figures will be found in Table I and do not include the offenses reported by county sheriffs, State police, and officers in the possessions, which are included in a separate table designated Table II. Corrections and adjustments in previously published returns, and supplementary returns are likewise published in separate tables.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

The bulletin also contains tables showing the extent of the population area represented by contributing cities, exclusive of county and other returns. The number of current and supplementary returns received, by States, for 1931, are also shown, and tables indicating the average daily number of offenses and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported are included.

In publishing the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities, the Department of Justice does not vouch for their accuracy. They are given out as current information which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year of 1931 have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,315 in June. The population represented by those cities is 48,953,414. This, of course, is exclusive of returns received from county and other jurisdictions. Police departments in 1,180 cities contributed returns of offenses known to the police for the month of June. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the first and third divisions of Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were forwarded from various other possessions. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 596 cities of an aggregate population of 3,317,137 which also contributed returns at some time during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	719	73	58,340,077	45,636,277	78
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7,540,966	7,169,837	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	88	90	6,491,448	5,785,351	89
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	150	81	6,425,693	5,254,665	82
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	394	65	9,097,200	6,095,609	67

The above table does not include 596 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 3,317,137 from which returns were received for 1931.

1,180 Cities Contributed Returns for June.

For the month of June returns were received from police departments in 1,180 cities throughout the country. In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

The next table of daily averages is based upon figures submitted by 1,053 cities each having a population of less than 100,000 which contributed returns both in May and June.

Daily average, 1,053 cities less than 100,000 population

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Per cent of offenses known, 1931

Instructions for Preparing Monthly Returns.

It is again desired to emphasize the fact that the figures in the monthly returns are based on the number of offenses known as distinguished from the number of arrests made. For example, if a police department receives complaints to the effect that five dwellings have been burglarized, then five offenses of burglary—breaking or entering—should be recorded in the monthly return, irrespective of the fact that an arrest might or might not have been made in any one of the five cases. Figures furnished the Bureau of Investigation, based on the number of arrests made, can not be published in the monthly bulletin. It is also suggested that police officials refer to the instructions appearing on the reverse side of the form from which it will be noted that in column 2 of the monthly return should be entered the total number of complaints received that crimes of the designated classes have been committed. In column 3 should be entered the number of reports which investigation proves to be unfounded. The number entered in column 3 should be deducted from the number in column 2 and the remainder should be placed in column 4. The total of each of the above columns should be noted in the space provided on the return.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 July, 1931 Number 7

Contents of the July Bulletin.

This issue of the bulletin contains the usual table reflecting the results of crime returns submitted for the month of July to the Bureau of Investigation by contributing police departments throughout the country. In addition figures are included for July and months previous thereto of the current year for counties and other jurisdictions, including several of the possessions. Corrections and adjustments in previously published returns are also shown.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larcency—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

The bulletin also contains tables showing the extent of the population area represented by contributing cities, exclusive of county and other returns. The number of current and supplementary returns received, by States, for 1931, are also shown, and tables indicating the average daily number of offenses and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported are included.

In publishing the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities, the Department of Justice does not vouch for their accuracy. They are given out as current information which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,358 in July. The population represented by those cities is 49,342,102. The population represented by the returns received from county and other jurisdictions is, of course, not included in the above figure. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, Alaska, Panama Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were also forwarded from various county sheriffs, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Philippines. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 626 cities of an aggregate population of 3,479,466 which also contributed returns at some time during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	732	74	58, 340, 077	45, 862, 636	79
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28, 784, 770	21, 330, 815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7, 540, 966	7, 169, 837	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	88	90	6, 491, 448	5, 785, 351	89
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	152	82	6, 425, 693	5, 306, 292	83
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	405	67	9, 097, 200	6, 270, 341	69

The above table does not include 626 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 3,479,466 from which returns were received for 1931.

1,213 Cities Contributed Returns for July.

For the month of July returns were received from police departments in 1,213 cities throughout the country. In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily average of the number of offenses known of the designated classes, as reflected in the following table, are based upon the figures submitted by 1,112 cities which contributed both in June and July. Due allowance was made for the variance in the number of days in each of the foregoing months.

Daily average, 1,112 miscellaneous cities

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Attempts To Commit Offenses Should Be Reported.

The attention of contributors is invited to the fact that the rules for compiling crime statistics according to the Uniform Classification of Offenses provide that all attempts to commit crimes of the designated classes shall be reported in the monthly return in the same manner as if the crime had actually been committed. For example, if an attempt is made to commit a burglary but through the intervention of the police or in some other manner the crime is not actually committed, a report thereof should be made on the Return A form. With respect to the reporting of attempted crimes it should be observed that attempts to commit murder should be classed as aggravated assaults in instances where the victim survives the attack. An attempt to commit larceny—theft should be reported under the classification Larceny—theft, (b) Under $50 in value. Furthermore, an assault with intent to commit any of the designated crimes should be reported in accordance with the rules for recording attempted crimes. For instance, an assault with intent to commit robbery should be entered on the monthly report as one offense of robbery.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 August, 1931 Number 8

Contents of the August Bulletin.

The bulletin for August contains a table showing the number of offenses known to the police for that month as submitted to the Bureau of Investigation by police officials cooperating in the project of compiling national crime statistics. The figures are grouped into two tables, namely, Table I, which contains the figures for urban police departments, and Table I–A, which contains those furnished by counties, the possessions, and others. In addition thereto reports for months previous to August, received since the July issue of the bulletin, will be found in Tables II and II–A. Revised returns, which are those published previously but in which some adjustment has been made, are shown in Table II–B.

The term "offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

Tables are published in the bulletin showing the extent of the population area and the number of current and supplementary returns received for 1931. Tables indicating the average daily number of offenses and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported are also shown.

In publishing the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities, the Department of Justice does not vouch for their accuracy. They are given out as current information which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the current year have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,386 during August. The population represented by those cities is 49,634,671. The population represented by returns received from county and other jurisdictions is not included in the above figures. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 644 cities of an aggregate population of 3,590,543 which also contributed returns at some time during the current year. The data in the following table are based upon the number of cities from which returns have been received, exclusive of county and other reports.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	742	75	58,340,077	46,044,128	79
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	53	94	7,540,966	7,169,837	95
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	88	90	6,491,448	5,785,351	89
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	154	83	6,425,693	5,395.833	84
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	413	68	9,097,200	6,362,292	70

The above table does not include 644 cities of a population less than 10,000, aggregating a total of 3,590,543, from which returns were received for 1931.

1,229 Cities Contributed Returns for August.

Returns for the month of August were received by the Bureau of Investigation from police departments of 1,229 cities, including 28 cities which had not previously furnished the reports. In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

Total Number of Published Returns.

Police departments which have failed to furnish reports for each month of the current year are requested to do so in order that figures will be available for 1931 from the entire reporting area.

In the following table are shown the total number of returns, including supplementaries, which have been received and published for the year 1931. Supplementary returns, as distinguished from current, are those which have been received for earlier months since the previous issue of the bulletin.

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group for the various months. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Per cent of offenses known, 1931

Larceny—Theft.

It will be observed from the monthly Return A form that offenses of Larceny—theft are divided into two classes, namely, thefts involving property valued at $50 or more and thefts involving property valued at less than $50. Care should be exercised by officials submitting returns to avoid reporting under the first-named classification offenses of grand larceny and under the second classification offenses of petty larceny, in States where the amount of $50 is not the sum differentiating between those two offenses. For example, in some States grand larceny is the felonious taking and carrying away anything amounting to $35 or over in value. Accordingly, if a larceny of $45 be reported to police departments in such States it should be recorded on the monthly return under the classification Larceny—theft (b) under $50 in value, notwithstanding the fact that the offense may be termed grand larceny in the particular jurisdiction. The determining factor in ascertaining in which group an offense of larceny should be recorded is the value of the property or the amount involved. It should also be remembered that attempts to commit larceny should be reported under the classification (b) under $50 in value.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 September, 1931 Number 9

Contents of the September Bulletin.

The tables contained in the current bulletin reflect the number of offenses known to the various police departments as submitted to the Bureau of Investigation for the month of September. Table I sets forth the offenses as reported by urban police departments, Table I–A those furnished by counties, possessions, and others. Tables II and II–A contain the reports of months previous to September submitted since the August issue of the bulletin. Revised returns, which are those published previously but in which adjustments have been made, are shown in Table II–B.

Tables are also published showing the extent of the population area and the number of current and supplementary returns received for 1931. Other tables indicate the average daily number of offenses and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported.

The Department of Justice does not vouch for the accuracy of the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities. They are given out as current information which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year 1931 have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,422 in September. The population represented by those cities is 50,178,352. This, of course, is exclusive of returns received from county and other jurisdictions. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the third division of Alaska, Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were forwarded from various other possessions. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 667 cities of an aggregate population of 3,705,940 which also contributed returns at some time during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	755	77	58,340,077	46,472,412	79
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	54	96	7,540,966	7,288,537	96
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	88	90	6,491,448	5,785,351	89
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	160	86	6,425,693	5,614,102	87
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	419	69	9,097,200	6,453,607	71

The above table does not include 667 cities of a population less than 10,000, aggregating a total of 3,705,940, from which returns were received for 1931.

1,245 Cities Contributed Returns for September.

During the month of September the Bureau of Investigation received 1,245 returns from the various police departments, including 36 cities which previously had never submitted crime statistics. In the table which follows are shown the number of returns received by States and published currently during 1931. Supplementary returns are not included in this tabulation.

Total Published Returns.

The entire number of returns, including supplementaries, which have been received and published during the year 1931 is shown in the table below. Supplementary returns, as distinguished from current returns, are those which have been received since the last issue of the bulletin for months previous to September.

In order to make available figures from the entire reporting area for the year 1931 it is requested that police departments which have hitherto failed to furnish reports for each month of the current year do so.

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group for the various months. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Instructions for Reporting Robbery, Burglary, and Larceny—Theft.

The attention of contributors is invited to the fact that according to the Uniform Classification of Offenses the wrongful taking of property or the attempt at such a taking may, as indicated on the monthly return A, fall into one of three classes, namely, robbery, burglary—breaking or entering, or larceny—theft. In reporting such offenses three fundamental principles should be borne in mind:

1. The distinction between the offenses of robbery, burglary—breaking or entering and larceny—theft.

2. No single offense should be reported twice as both a robbery and a larceny—theft, or both a burglary—breaking or entering and a larceny—theft.

3. The division of offenses of larceny—theft into those involving property valued at $50 and over and property valued at less than $50.

The manual, Uniform Crime Reporting, in sections 209 to 210 and 213 to 222, inclusive, contains a thorough and complete discussion of the rules relating to the reporting of these three offenses. The definitions, according to the Uniform Classification of Offenses, may be briefly stated as follows:

A. Robbery is the taking or attempted taking of property from the person or presence of another through the use of threat or force.

B. Burglary—breaking or entering—is the breaking or entering any building or the attempt to do so with the intent to commit a felony or any larceny therein.

C. Larceny—theft is the felonious stealing or taking, other than by force from the person, or the attempt to do so, the personal property of another with the intent to deprive him of his ownership.

It should be observed, therefore, that the taking of another's property under circumstances coming within the above definitions will fall into one of these three classes, and accordingly no single offense should be reported under two different groups. Likewise it should be noted that larceny—thefts should be reported according to the amount of money or property stolen, the determining factor being whether it be over or under $50 in value.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 October, 1931 Number 10

Contents of the October Bulletin.

The number of crimes known to contributing police departments as submitted by them to the Bureau of Investigation for the month of October is set forth in the regular tables published in the current bulletin. Table I contains the number of offenses as reported by urban police departments, and Table I–A those furnished by counties, possessions, and others. Reports for months previous to October received since the September issue of the bulletin, and revised returns, which are those already published but in which some adjustments have been made, are contained in Tables II, II–A, and II–B. Other tables in the bulletin show the extent of the population area covered by the the returns, the number of current and supplementary returns received during the year, the average daily number of offenses, and the per cent of each offense class to the total number reported.

In addition there is included a table reflecting the number of police department employees as indicated by returns received for the first nine months of 1931 and the number of such employees per 1,000 persons for reporting cities of 50,000 or more in population.

The Department of Justice does not vouch for the accuracy of the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities. They are given out as current information, which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I Classes of the Uniform Classification occuring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

Population table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year 1931 have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,437 in October. The population represented by those cities is 50,407,853. This figure, of course, excludes the population represented by returns received from county and other jurisdictions. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the third division of Alaska, Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were forwarded from various other possessions. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. In addition to those listed in the table there are 687 cities of the smaller population groups and rural townships representing an aggregate total population for both groups of 3,943,347, which also contributed returns at some time during the current year.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	750	76	58,340,077	46,464,506	80
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	54	96	7,540,966	7,288,537	96
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	90	92	6,491,448	5,923,665	91
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	158	85	6,425,693	5,561,399	86
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	414	68	9,097,200	6,360,090	70

The above table does not include 687 cities and rural townships, aggregating a total population of 3,943,347. The cities included in this figure are those of less than 10,000 population filing returns, whereas the rural townships are of varying population groups.

1,267 Cities Contributed Returns for October.

During the month of October there was an increase of 22 cities in the number of returns received currently. There were also submitted for that month reports from 15 cities which previously had not furnished crime statistics returns to the Bureau of Investigation. The number of reports received and published monthly during 1931 is set forth in the table which follows. This tabulation does not include supplementary returns.

Total Published Returns.

The entire number of returns, including supplementaries, which have been received and published during the year 1931 is shown in the table below. Supplementary returns, as distinguished from current returns, are those which have been received since the last issue of the bulletin for months previous to October.

In order to make available figures from the entire reporting area it is requested that police departments forward, if possible, the data for months previous to October of the current year.

Average Daily Offenses.

The number of cities which contributed returns for both September and October likewise showed a substantial increase over the number that had previously contributed for any two successive months. The group contributing for the above two months consisted of 1,227 cities. The following table shows the daily average of the number of offenses known of the designated classes for these 1,227 cities for the months of September and October.

Daily average, 1,224 miscellaneous cities

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary—breaking or entering	Larceny—theft		Auto theft

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period, but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group for the various months. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Annual Returns.

The attention of contributors is invited to the fact that the system of uniform crime reporting, as adopted by the Bureau of Investigation, provides for the preparation of annual reports which are calculated to show the total number of offenses of the designated classes for the year, the number of those offenses which have been cleared by arrest, together with the number of persons charged for those offenses. On or about the 1st of January the necessary forms, which are designated Return B and Return C, will be forwarded to all interested police departments. Officials desiring information concerning the preparation of the annual reports should communicate immediately with the Bureau of Investigation.

Tabulation of Police Department Employees.

There is presented in the table which follows a tabulation showing the number of police department employees, including civilians, for cities contributing crime statistical data to the Bureau of Investigation.

For comparative purposes the cities are herewith classified into three population groups; namely, cities over 250,000, those between 100,000 and 250,000, and those between 50,000 and 100,000. The population data was obtained from the revised 1930 census. The number of police-department employees shown in the table is taken from the monthly Return A. It is an average for the months of January to September, 1931, inclusive. In some instances cities are included which have not provided the data for each month during the above period, and in such cases the average number is taken for those months in which the figures are available. Police departments from which it was impossible to obtain the data for a period of more than three months, however, are excluded. Data furnished by cities regularly which was obviously inaccurate or incomplete has been disregarded.

In an early issue of the Bulletin the same data for cities between 10,000 and 50,000 will be presented.

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 November, 1931 Number 11

Contents of the November Bulletin.

The extent of crime, as reflected by the reports from police departments of cities and counties cooperating with the Bureau of Investigation in gathering crime statistics, is indicated, for jurisdictions reporting, in the regular tables published in the current bulletin.

The number of offenses reported by urban police departments is set forth in Table I, while Table I–A contains the number of crimes reported by counties, United States possessions, and others. Revised reports, which are those previously published but in which some adjustments have been made, and reports for months previous to November, received since the October issue of the bulletin, are contained in Tables II, II–A, and II–B.

The remaining tables of the bulletin show the extent of the population area covered by the statistics in the above tables, the total number of current and supplementary reports that have been received from police departments during the year, the average number of crimes per day, and the per cent of each offense class to the total number reported.

In publishing the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities, the Department of Justice does not vouch for their accuracy. They are given out as current information which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I Classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year 1931 have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,485 in November. These cities represent a population of 50,891,147. This figure, of course, excludes the population represented by returns received from county and other jurisdictions. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the third and fourth divisions of Alaska, Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were forwarded from various other possessions. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. In addition to those listed in the table there are 725 cities of the smaller population groups and rural townships representing an aggregate total population for both groups of 4,185,034, which also contributed returns at some time during the current year.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	760	77	58,340,077	46,706,113	80
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	54	96	7,540,966	7,288,537	96
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	91	93	6,491,448	6,010,291	93
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	159	86	6,425,693	5,603,447	87
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	422	70	9,097,200	6,473,023	71

The above table does not include 725 cities and rural townships, aggregating a total population of 4,185,034. The cities included in this figure are those of less than 10,000 population filing returns, whereas the rural townships are of varying population groups.

Large Increase in Number of Reports Received for November.

The number of reports received for the month of November showed an increase of 66 over the number of returns received in any previous month. Forty-eight of these reports were from cities which previously had never contributed crime statistics to the Bureau of Investigation making a total of 1,333 cities from which current returns were received for that month. In the following table there is set forth a comparison by States of the total number of returns received for the months of the current year. Supplementary returns are excluded from this tabulation.

Total published returns.

A comparison of the total number of returns, including supplementaries, which have been received monthly during the current year from the various States, is set forth in the following table. As distinguished from current returns, supplementary returns are those which have been received since the last issue of the bulletin.

In order to make available complete statistics covering the entire reporting area for the whole year, it is requested that police departments which have heretofore failed to do so, forward, if possible, the data for the months previous to November.

Average Daily Offenses.

The number of cities which have contributed returns for any two successive months likewise showed a substantial increase for the months of October and November. The following table shows the daily average of crimes of the designated classes occurring in a group of 1,262 cities which submitted complete and properly classified returns for the months of October and November. This group represents an increase of 35 over the similar group for the months of September and October.

Daily average, 1,262 miscellaneous cities

The next table of daily averages is based upon figures submitted by 1,185 cities, each having a population of less than 100,000, which contributed returns both in October and November.

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group for the various months. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Annual Return Forms.

During the first week in January forms will be distributed for the purpose of obtaining statistics on the number of offenses reported to the police and the number of persons charged, on an annual basis for the year 1931. These forms are designated B and C, and instructions will be given for tabulating the data requested. The information should be mailed to the Bureau of Investigation on or before the first of February, 1932, if possible.

The data in Return B is confined to the Part I Classes which consist of major offenses most generally reported to the police. Return C, however, includes, in addition to the Part I Classes, the Part II Classes of the Uniform Classification of Offenses in which are included misdemeanors and some felonies which are generally not quite as prevalent as those in the Part I Classes.

U. S. SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS

UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2 December, 1931 Number 12

Special Announcement.

At the suggestion of Dr. L. C. Marshall, of the Institute of Law of The Johns Hopkins University, a conference was held December 28 in the offices of the United States Bureau of Investigation for the purpose of considering the possibility of securing a uniform classification of crimes for use in penal, judicial, and police statistics. At the present time the United States Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice is developing a system of crime statistics based on offenses known to the police, while the Bureau of the Census in the Department of Commerce has for years compiled criminal statistics on a national scale concerning inmates of State and Federal institutions. The classifications used by the two bureaus, although not exactly similar, have substantially the same group headings. The purpose of the conference was to determine whether some action might be taken with a view to developing a classification common to both fields of statistics which at the same time could be utilized in compiling judicial statistics. The following were in attendance in addition to representatives of the United States Bureau of Investigation: L. C. Marshall; Leonard V. Harrison; Thorsten Sellin, representing the Bureau of the Census; Bennet Mead; William P. Rutledge; Lawrence B. Dunham; W. C. Jamison; Miss Harriet Cheney; A. H. MacCormick; E. H. Sutherland; Bruce Smith; and Charles E. Gehlke.

It was agreed by the conference that it would be highly desirable to have a uniform offense classification which may be utilized in police, judicial, and penal statistics although there are many difficulties to be encountered in providing such a classification. The conference felt, nevertheless, that to obtain a comparable offense classification some progressive action should be taken as soon as possible, and accordingly a committee was appointed to consider the details of the problem and to submit its findings to the conference at a later date. This committee is composed of Dr. L. C. Marshall, of the Institute of Law of The Johns Hopkins University; Mr. Bruce Smith, of the Institute of Public Administration; Dr. Thorsten Sellin, of the Bureau of Social Hygiene, representing the Bureau of the Census; and Mr. James J. Waters, of the United States Bureau of Investigation.

Contents of the December Bulletin.

This issue of the bulletin contains the usual tables of offenses known to the police as tabulated from the reports furnished the United States Bureau of Investigation by contributing police officers. These consist of Table I, or the number of offenses reported by urban police departments, Table I–A, the number of crimes reported by counties, United States possessions, and others, Tables II and II–A, which include the supplementary returns from urban police departments, counties and others, and Table II–B, in which will be found returns previously published which are revised in the current issue. In addition thereto a tabulation is included showing the total number of offenses for the calendar year of 1931 as reported by cities having a population of 100,000 or more from which reports were received for the entire 12 months of that year. The bulletin also contains a tabulation showing the number of police department employees in cities of two population groups, namely, those of 10,000 to 25,000 and those of 25,000 to 50,000.

The remaining tables of the bulletin show the extent of the population area covered by the statistics in the above tables, the total number of current and supplementary reports that have been received from police departments during the year, the average daily number of offenses for cities which have submitted returns for both November and December, and the per cent of each offense class to the total number reported.

In publishing the reports sent in by chiefs of police in different cities, the Department of Justice does not vouch for their accuracy. They are given out as current information which possibly may throw some light on problems of crime and criminal law enforcement.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I Classes of the Uniform Classification occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft. The figures contained herein include also the number of attempted crimes of the designated classes. Attempted murders, however, are reported as aggravated assaults. In other words, an attempted burglary or robbery, for example, is reported in the monthly bulletin in the same manner as if the crime had been completed.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses, including attempts, which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

Population Table.

The number of cities which at any time during the year 1931 have contributed returns of offenses known to the police to the Bureau of Investigation reached 1,511 in December. These cities represent a population of 51,145,734. This figure, of course, excludes the population represented by returns received from county and other jurisdictions. Returns were also received from a number of counties in the various States, State police in several jurisdictions, the third division of Alaska, Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. Supplementary returns were forwarded from various other possessions. In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. In addition to those listed in the table there are 741 cities of the smaller population groups and rural townships representing an aggregate total population for both groups of 4,262,409, which also contributed returns at some time during the current year.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent
Total	982	770	78	58,340,077	46,883,325	80
A. Cities over 250,000	37	34	92	28,784,770	21,330,815	74
B. Cities 100,000 to 250,000	56	54	96	7,540,966	7,288,537	97
C. Cities 50,000 to 100,000	98	91	93	6,491,448	6,010,291	93
D. Cities 25,000 to 50,000	185	161	87	6,425,693	5,658,543	88
E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000	606	430	71	9,097,200	6,595,139	72

The above table does not include 741 cities and rural townships, aggregating a total population of 4,262,409. The cities included in this figure are those of less than 10,000 population filing returns, whereas the rural townships are of varying population groups.

Steady Expansion in Reporting Area Continues.

It will be noted from the chart which follows that there was a steady growth in the extension of the reporting area during 1931. In January of that year there were approximately 1,050 cities, representing a population of more than 45,000,000 people, which submitted returns. At the end of the year, however, this number had increased to 1,511 cities, representing a total population in excess of 51,000,000, from which returns were received at any time during 1931. County and other jurisdictions submitting reports are, of course, excluded from the above compilation.

Continued Increase in Number of Reports Received.

The number of reports received by the Bureau of Investigation for the month of December from urban police departments was 1,352, an increase of 19 over the total number received at the time of going to press for the November Bulletin. Twenty-six of these reports were from cities which had not previously contributed crime statistics to the U. S. Bureau of Investigation. In the following table there is set forth a comparison by States of the total number of returns received currently by months during 1931. Supplementary returns are excluded from this tabulation.

Total Published Returns.

A comparison of the total number of returns, including supplementaries, which have been received monthly during 1931 from the various States, is set forth in the following table. As distinguished from current returns, supplementary returns are those which have been received for months previous to December since the last issue of the bulletin.

In order to make available complete statistics covering the entire reporting area for the whole year, it is requested that police departments which have heretofore failed to do so, forward, if possible, the data for the months previous to December.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily average of the number of offenses known of the designated classes, as reflected in the following table, is based upon the figures submitted by 1,247 cities which contributed both in November and December. Due allowance was made for the variance in the number of days in each of the foregoing months.

Daily average, 1,247 miscellaneous cities

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The per cent of each offense class to the whole for 1931 is shown by months in the following table. These figures, however, are not intended to indicate crime trends for the particular period but merely reflect the per cent of each class of the designated crimes to the whole group for the various months. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of obviously defective and incomplete returns.

Annual Return Forms.

There have been distributed to interested police officials the necessary forms for supplying information concerning the number of offenses reported to the police and the number of persons charged during the calendar year of 1931. These forms are designated Return B and Return C. Return B provides for recording the total number of offenses known, the number of those which are unfounded, those cleared by arrest, and those not cleared by arrest for 1931. In addition thereto the number of offenses which were reported not cleared in previous years, but which were cleared in 1931, should be reported. An offense is cleared by arrest when one or more persons are charged and prosecuted for it, whether following an arrest, court summons, or police notice.

On Return C should be recorded the number of persons released by the police; that is, those persons who are taken into custody but are later released, there being no formal charge placed against them, and the number of persons charged by the police. The term "persons charged," according to the Uniform Classification of Offenses, includes all persons within the police jurisdiction against whom criminal charges are brought. These charges may be made after arrest, summons, or notice. It should be noted that both the Part I and the Part II Classes of the Uniform Classification of Offenses are used in Return C.

Tabulation of Police Department Employees.

In the table which follows there is completed the tabulation showing the number of police department employees, including civilians, of cities contributing crime statistical data to the United States Bureau of Investigation. The first section of this table included three population groups, namely: Cities over 250,000, those between 100,000 and 250,000, and those between 50,000 and 100,000. This tabulation was published in the October bulletin. The concluding section, published in the current bulletin, includes the two population groups of cities between 25,000 and 50,000 and those between 10,000 and 25,000.

There is also included a supplement to the figures for the first three population groups which includes two cities that did not have complete data at the time of the previous publication.

As was indicated previously, the sources of the data are as follows: Population figures were obtained from the revised 1930 census. The number of police department employees shown in the table is taken from the monthly Return A and is an average for the months from January to September, 1931, inclusive. Cities from which it was impossible to obtain the data for a period of more than three months are excluded. Data furnished by cities regularly which appeared obviously inaccurate or doubtful has been disregarded.

Table A–1 is a summary indicating the average number of policemen per 1,000 population for each of the five population groups covered by the completed tabulation.

Total Offenses Reported for 1931—Cities over 100,000.

The following table is a tabulation of the returns submitted for the calender year of 1931 by cities having a population of 100,000 or more. Cities not contributing for the entire 12 months of 1931 are excluded. The data, it is believed, are of current interest and of value when reasonable caution is exercised in interpreting the figures presented.
